PROFESSIONAL BOOK CENTER — ICML 2001 CONFERENCE
2050 S. SAINT PAUL ST., DENVER, CO 80210, U.S.A.

To: All Authors of Accepted Papers

Congratulations on the acceptance of your paper for inclusion in the ICML 2001 conference proceedings. The following is provided to help you prepare your paper for printing in the proceedings. You will be required to deliver your paper in electronic form to Professional Book Center. Please follow these instructions closely.

Submission Deadline

Final papers must be delivered to Professional Book Center. The deadline for receipt of your formatted paper via FTP, and the appropriate accompanying forms via FAX (see below) is Monday, April 16, 2001. This is an absolute deadline; the FTP space will be closed after the deadline, and late papers can not be included in the proceedings. If you discover major errors in your paper following electronic submission, contact us via e-mail (lee@probook.net) for permission and instructions on how to submit a replacement paper. Although we will try to include replacement papers, we cannot guarantee their inclusion in the book.

We highly recommend that you transmit your file at least 48 to 72 hours in advance of the deadline. Transient conditions, such as network downtime or inability to maintain a good connection, may delay transmission. So if at all possible, please beat the deadline by a couple of days to allow yourself a margin of error in case there is a problem.

Length Requirements

The length of your final paper cannot exceed eight (8) pages. Papers that exceed the length requirements, or papers that do not reasonably conform to the format instructions cannot be published in the proceedings.

Author Index

We will prepare an index to authors in the volume. In the body of the e-mail message you send to notify us of your submission (see next page, "Preparing Your Paper for Electronic Delivery"), please let us know—if there is likely to be any question—how your name and those of your coauthors should be listed in the author index. Some names are straightforward (Smith, Jim); others are not (van Dyke, Jim: alphabetized under "V" or "D"? Epstein Barr, Sheila—or Barr, Sheila Epstein?).

Permission to Publish Form

Please print and sign the Permission to Publish form provided with these materials and FAX it to Professional Book Center (305-946-8106) in advance of the final paper deadline (April 16). For multi-author papers, a single signature by the lead author is sufficient. Keep a copy of the form for your files. Papers not accompanied by this form cannot be published in the proceedings. However, note that this is not a copyright transfer document—you retain all copyright in the work. If you publish an original paper in the proceedings, no permission from Morgan Kaufmann Publishers will be necessary for subsequent publication in another book or journal.

Contacting Professional Book Center

If you have any questions regarding formatting, deadlines, or electronic submission of your paper, please contact Jennifer Ballentine at Professional Book Center: 303-756-5222; FAX: 303-756-5374 (note that this is a different FAX number from the one used for your permission form); email: jennifer@probook.net Professional Book Center is located in Colorado in the Mountain Time Zone—two hours earlier (by the clock) than New York and one hour later than California. IMPORTANT: Due to the volume of proceedings papers processed by Professional Book Center, we cannot individually confirm receipt of your materials. Please DO NOT CALL or e-mail to inquire if your paper has been received. We will contact you if your materials are not received or complete.

PREPARING YOUR PAPER FOR ELECTRONIC DELIVERY—ICML 2001

Please read and follow the instructions below carefully:

1. Prepare and review your paper exactly as if you intended to physically send it to us. Use the macros and styles that are available as described in the author notification. LaTEX and MS-WORD files are available from the conference Web page (http://www.ecn.purdue.edu/ICML2001/format.html).

2. Once your paper is finalized, use your formatting software to make a single PostScript OR Adobe Acrobat PDF file for the entire paper. If you have the ability to deliver your paper as a PDF file, we strongly encourage you to do so for reasons of file size and accuracy. If you use Acrobat Distiller to make a PDF file from your PostScript file, be sure to select the press option of Distiller. Whether you will submit PostScript or PDF files, you must embed all fonts you use in your file (especially any math fonts, special symbol fonts, or fonts you have created or customized yourself). Do not compress, zip, or encode your file in any way. Make sure your file size is less than 3 megabytes (this will be much easier with a PDF file). When preparing graphics, you may wish to downgrade scans or greyscale images to result in a final file size under 3 megabytes. IMPORTANT: If, after PostScripting, your file is larger than 3 megabytes and you are unable to submit a PDF file, you must contact ProBook by e-mail (lee@probook.net) for instructions before you FTP your file.

Please print and proofread your paper in its electronic form prior to submission; Professional Book Center will inspect your paper for obvious errors, but your ability to print your PostScript file on a PostScript printer and have it print correctly is your best check of accurate PostScripting. Do not e-mail the PostScript file: attachments frequently fail with files of this size.

3. Use the paper tracking number assigned by the conference organizers to your accepted paper as the filename, followed by the extension '.ps' for a PostScript file or '.pdf' for a PDF file.

4. Using your FTP client software, open an anonymous session at 'ftp.probook.net' and place your file in the directory 'ICML'. If your software supports it, our server is programmed to display a 'progress' bar that will help you determine that your file uploaded successfully. If you do not have FTP client software, you can obtain the shareware program 'ws_ftp' on the Web at 'www.tucows.com'. (NOTE: This FTP space will be available for uploading after April 2—do not attempt to upload your final paper before that date.)

5. After you've uploaded your contribution, please send an e-mail message to 'lee@probook.net' with 'ICML 2001' on the subject line, and include the following information: the name of the file that you uploaded to us, the names of the paper's authors, the exact paper title, and the number of pages in the paper. Also include in this message instructions on alphabetizing any unusual forms of contributors' names. A human being will process this information, so no particular order or format is necessary.

6. If possible, please FTP your contribution early—we can begin accepting papers on April 2. Early submission will also help avoid overburdening our server with large amounts of incoming data arriving all at once on the deadline.

7. You must FAX (to 305-946-8106) your completed Permission to Publish form by the paper deadline.
