Reading Response 2
#Due IN CLASS Thursday, 5 April

━━ Readings ━━

Please read and write a short response to the following paper. Hand in the response in class on the due date. Responses need not be longer than one-half to three-quarters of a page. Your response should address the general questions asked below, as well as anything you found particularly interesting in the article.

2. (15 points) .... Smalltalk

Read "Design Principles Behind Smalltalk" by Dan Ingalls.

Think about the Principles set forth. Which are new? Which have we seen before? What principles are remniscent of Lisp? What is the scope of the language (ie, what is included in its definition)? A few sentences on each item is sufficient— clarity is more important than length of answer.
